

BITTER FIGHT TO THE FINISH

Davidson and La Follette Cross Horns On The Ekern-Twisme Assembly Contest.

TEST BETWEEN THE TWO MEN IS ON

Both Bryan and Mack Denounce Rockefeller And His Endorsement Of Taft-Republican Candidate
Says Victory Is Assured.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—Governor Davidson and Senator La Follette have locked horns in an interesting fight over former Speaker of the Assembly Ekern, independent candidate, and Albert Twisme, the republican candidate, running for assembly in Trempealeau county.

Governor Davidson announced this noon that he had changed his plans and would return to Trempealeau county tonight, to answer La Follette's speech.

Gov. Davidson is for the primary election nominee, Twisme, and La Follette is for Ekern, who was defeated in the primary.

Bitter Fight

La Follette, Wis., Oct. 30.—In a final effort to hold Trempealeau county in line for the republican organization, Governor Davidson, who will return to the county tonight for a speech at Galeville, has consented to remain in the county until Sunday. He will deliver three more speeches besides the one advertised at Galeville. The governor will speak at Arcadia Saturday morning, at Erickson in the afternoon and at Trempealeau at night, making also speeches in all by the governor in the county.

It is generally felt that the entrance of Senator La Follette in the county has made the election an assemblyman's fight, a test of strength between the Davidson and La Follette forces and both sides are straining every nerve to carry the fight.

In Appleton, Wis., Oct. 30.—A Taft's First Voters' club numbering more than 225 members has been organized in Appleton and it is doubtful if there is another city the size of Appleton in the middle west where an organization of this kind possessing that strength has been formed. The members will turn out in a body next Saturday night and parade to the army where C. A. A. McFie of Milwaukee will deliver the last campaign speech of the year here.

Out in Open, Wis., Oct. 30.—Senator La Follette's audience at Ashland last night was the largest he has had outside of Milwaukee.

"I denounce it," he said in reference to the tariff plank of the Chicago convention. He also denounced Cannon, Depler and Aldrich. His eulogy of Taft was a strong feature. He also referred to a probable union of the democratic and republican parties to fight the trusts.

Bryan Condemned, Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 30.—Bryan, on the concluding day of his campaign in Ohio, is devoting his attention to the denunciation of John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie, both of whom are quoted in the morning papers as supporting Taft.

Rockefeller has his attitude on the ground that the balance of business and temperance is on Taft's side, and that his election would make for law and order and stability of business.

Carnegie sides with the republican candidate because he regards Bryan as a menace and says his election would be a national tragedy.

Mack's Statement, New York, Oct. 30.—Charges were made today by Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that the declaration of John D. Rockefeller for Taft, for President, was the result of a deal between the Republican National Committee and the Standard Oil interests, whereby National Chairman Hittchcock received large campaign contributions and Rockefeller the promise, Mack said, undoubtedly that the $25,000,000 line of the Standard Oil Company would be fixed up. In the event of Taft's election, as part of the bargain.

Bryan's Fling, Napoleon, O., Oct. 30.—Bryan gave out a statement here today, commenting upon the declaration John D. Rockefeller made in New York yesterday, that he would vote for Taft. Bryan said he was not surprised at the declaration of Rockefeller, as the Standard Oil company and the republican party had been closely related and that many of their interests are identical.

"Jim's" Word, Ulen, N. Y., Oct. 30.—"Your Jim has assured me that we are going to be elected and I believe his judgment is good," declared Taft to a great audience here today. The meeting at which Taft spoke was followed by a twenty-minute conference between Taft and Sherman.

An Open Letter, Danville, Ill., Oct. 30.—In an open letter to William H. H. of the Methodist Episcopal church at Indianapolis, Speaker Cannon today reiterated his former declaration that he had not in any way prevented the house of representatives taking a vote on the Littlefield bill.

GERMAN PAPER ENDORSES DAVIDSON'S CANDIDACY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—In marked contrast to the really earnest talk of six weeks ago, to the effect that the German voters of Wisconsin were tired of voting for Norwegians, is the spontaneity with which the Germans are rallying to the support of the republican ticket in Wisconsin this fall. While thousands of Germans have been ways a great admirer of the German and popular among them, there was much whispering during the primary election campaign against Norwegians in office, for the old convention for state office among representatives of various sections of the state and various nationalities is impracticable under the bloated primary election system of making party nominations, and so Governor Davidson and Trempealeau, two Norwegians, secured places on the ticket, while no German of prominence was nominated. However, the attempt to divide the republicans on an alignment of nationality has failed and the German leaders and German press are coming out for the republican ticket. Governor Davidson's friends are particularly pleased with the endorsement given him in a recent editorial in the great German daily of Milwaukee, the Germania, which translated in as follows: "We have but rarely found a man on the public stage who was so fully prepared to meet the responsibilities of his important office, as Governor Davidson of Wisconsin. He now asks

KILL PRISONER IN CELL IN THE JAIL

Thirty Masked Men Go to Jail and Wreak Vengeance on Alleged Murderer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Kingston, Tenn., Oct. 30.—A mob of thirty masked men attacked the Boone county jail early today and killed George Cook, held on the charge of murdering John King. It is presumed the men intended to hang Cook, but they had a rope in their possession, but when his cell was reached for his second elective term for the highest executive office of the state, for he first took charge of his administrative duties as lieutenant governor after Governor La Follette had accepted the United States senatorship. Mr. Davidson does not belong to that class of people who are worked in the arts of political stage effect. He never attempted to shine as an orator, although even his opponents must bear witness that in the present political campaign this state he has proved himself an unusually skillful and effective advocate of his cause. His administration has caused no great stir, but it always served the best interests of the state, and in quiet way, with his steadfastness of purpose, the governor used just the right methods to equalize the differences in the republican party, caused by the bitter factional strife, and to restore harmony in the ranks of the party. Nevertheless, all reform movements that tended to promote the welfare of the state, found a loyal and zealous friend in him. He is progressive wherever it is a question of abolishing political abuses; he is conservative wherever it becomes necessary wisely to curb the overzealous reforming enthusiasm, so that no harm may be done. In one word, Governor Davidson has proved himself to be the right man, from every point of view, for the important and responsible office he holds, and we therefore feel that we can heartily recommend him to the German voters of this state."—Germania, October 27.

he offered resistance and produced a razor. He cut one of the men in the mob, whereupon the invaders quickly shot Cook dead.

REAR ADMIRAL WAS RETIRED FOR AGE

Albert R. Coudon, President of Naval Examining and Retiring Boards.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., October 30.—Rear Admiral Albert R. Coudon, president of the Naval Examining and Retiring Boards, retired today from active service, having reached the age limit under the navy regulations. He was born in Indiana on October 30, 1846 but was appointed from Utah. He entered the Naval Academy on September 26, 1863 and graduated four years later. He served on the Franklin, the flagship of the European squadron from 1867 to 1869. In 1868 he was made ensign, he became master in 1870, lieutenant in 1871, lieutenant commander in March 1883 and commander in March 1897. On January 15, 1902 he was made captain and was commander of the Atlantic from 1904 to 1907.

He was still a captain, when he was honored by being in command of the powerful fleet and the thousands of marines sent to Havana at the time of the Tia Intervention. It was the most important naval command since the close of the Spanish-American war. President Roosevelt further honored Coudon by placing him in command of the battleship Louisiana, in which Roosevelt made his trip to Panama for the purpose of personally studying the Panama canal situation. On November 28, 1904 Rear Admiral Coudon was made general inspector of ordnance of the United States Navy and still later was appointed president of the naval examining and retiring boards, which position he still holds.

INDIANA HAS HAD A WARM CAMPAIGN

Main Fight is for Control of the Legislature—Local Option Question Up.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 30.—The warm political battle Indiana has seen in recent years will wind up tomorrow night with parades and rallies in every city and town throughout the length and breadth of the state. The great battle in Indiana this year is for the election of the state ticket. The presidential contest, of course, has not been neglected, but the leaders here feel that the national ticket will take care of itself. The main fight is for control of the legislature. If the republicans win, eighty of the ninety-two counties in the state may exercise local option and James A. Hemenway will be returned to the United States senate. If the democrats win, there will be no appreciable change in the liquor situation. The law enacted by the republican legislature provides for local option by counties, while the democrats advocate local option by townships. Between the two there is a great difference in the practical results, as it generally admitted that the township plan would not bring about prohibition in any of the larger cities and towns.

The republicans have made the liquor question the great issue of their campaign. The democrats, on the other hand, have paid little attention to the liquor issue but have made much of the alleged extravagance in the republican administration of the state's business. Both parties have made a thorough canvass of the situation during the present week, and, according to the leaders, both are pleased with the results. The officials at the republican state headquarters say that the returns make the prospects look brighter than four years ago, when Indiana went republican by a large majority. The democrats, on the other hand, appear well satisfied with the outlook and hold that a better showing for their ticket could not be desired.

TEMPERANCE DAY AT DALLAS FAIR

Temperance Agitation Results in Big Celebration in Texas State

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Thousands of persons, friendly to the cause of temperance, came to this city from all parts of the state to take part in the celebration and the fair grounds were crowded from early morning. An interesting program, prepared for the occasion was carried out. It included principally music and addresses by several prominent temperance orators, among them J. W. Hall of Vernon, Senator B. F. FIGHTS SCHEDULED IN NEW YORK CITY

O'Brien and Langford and McFarland and Murphy Meet Tonight—
Other Bouts.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, October 30.—New York is rapidly developing into a prizefighting center and has already become a paradise for scores of minor pugilists and even for such of considerable prominence. Not less than six athletic clubs in Manhattan and Brooklyn are giving so-called "boxing exhibitions" every week, which in reality are nothing but prize fights. Heretofore the matches arranged for by them have been between minor lights of the profession, but lately more important events have been scheduled, which are attracting considerable interest in sporting circles throughout the country.

The record will be broken tonight, when two rather important fights will come off: Philadelphia Jack O'Brien will meet Sam Langford, the colored wonder, under the auspices of a Manhattan club, while Mackey McFarland is scheduled for a six-round fight with Tommy Murphy in Brooklyn. O'Brien has been practically ruled out since he admitted two years ago in California that he had been nicknamed in queer matches. Should he succeed in defeating Langford, who is classed as just as good a fighter as Jack Johnson, the colored heavy-weight, it would help considerably in rehabilitating O'Brien in the favor and confidence of the sporting fraternity.

PAPAL CONSTITUTION TO RAISE RANK OF COUNTRY

United States To Take Rank As Roman Catholic State After November 3rd.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., October 30.—The American members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy are well pleased with the new papal constitution which will go into effect on Tuesday next, November 3. They are looking forward with great deal of satisfaction to the day which will elevate the United States from a mission country to the rank and status of a regularly recognized Roman Catholic state, with the right and prerogative of dealing direct with the Roman Congregation through the papal secretary of state, instead of dealing with the Propaganda which heretofore has had charge of all matters pertaining to mission countries.

Under the new papal constitution which will go into effect next week the United States, Great Britain, Ireland, Canada, Newfoundland, Gibraltar and Luxembourg are removed from the jurisdiction of the Propaganda, which form one of the nineteen congregations in Rome, to whom the administration of all church matters is entrusted. The Propaganda which is headed by Cardinal Gotti has heretofore been one of the most important and powerful of the congregations, but by the new constitution its powers will be materially diminished.

In addition to changing the status and powers of the Propaganda the papal edict provides for other reforms, reorganizing the mode of the congregations through a more suitable division of subjects and eliminating the duplication of authority and reducing the work of the ancient tribunals of the Rota and the Segnatura. By the terms of the edict both civil and criminal litigations are removed from the jurisdiction of the congregations and entrusted to the tribunals of the Rota and the Segnatura. The congregations retain only disciplinary powers. A new congregation regulating discipline and the sacrament is created, its duties including also questions regarding marriages, while the dogmatic side of the sacraments remains under the jurisdiction of the congregation of the Holy Office, which has exclusive jurisdiction over mixed marriages, one of the parties being a non-Catholic. The Pope appoints the prefect of the Holy Office. The importance of the congregation of the Consistory, of which the Pope is also prefect, is augmented by entrusting to it the creation of bishops and the supervision over and direction of the rules of dioceses and seminaries, and also deciding questions of competence between the congregations.

All disputed questions, not merely matters of conscience, go to the Rota in the first instance and then to the Segnatura as a supreme court. The Rota works also as a court of appeals, both for sentences pronounced by other courts or by itself. In the latter case the matter must be submitted to different judges. The Segnatura is constituted a court of cassation in four cases: as an appeal court against an entire sentence of the Rota; in the case of alleged nullity of a sentence; in the case of suspicion against a judge of the Rota and to hear suits for damages against judges of the Rota. Anyone can appeal against the decisions of these courts with or without the assistance of lawyers, and a special body of lawyers has been formed, the members of which have pledged themselves to assist the poor gratuitously.

Beginning with next Tuesday the Rota will become an international court with ten judges, one of them an English-speaking one. The Segnatura will be entirely composed of cardinals. The practical result of the new conditions will be that the countries removed from the jurisdiction of the Propaganda instead of applying to the latter for the decision of all questions must apply to the suitable congregation, to the resort of which the matter may pertain. The creation of new dioceses and the appointment of new bishops will be dealt with by the secretary of state, after which they will be sent in trust to the congregation of the Consistory to carry out the decision. While heretofore all questions were gratuitously dealt with by the Propaganda as established for mission lands, after next Tuesday the payment of the usual fees will be exacted.

The congregation of the Consistory, which replaces the congregation of the Propaganda in the nomination of American bishops, and which is presided over by the Pope, will have as its secretary Cardinal De Lai. The members of this congregation, numbering fourteen, include Cardinals Merry del Val, Orsini, Serafini, Vannutelli, Martini, Rampella and Gotti. Among the judges of the Rota are Monsignor Priori, rector of Lova College and several other distinguished dignitaries. After this every archbishop and bishop in the United States will have a personal representative before the tribunals in Rome. Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Farley have already selected a representative in the person of Bp. E. Sant.

BARRY CONFIDENT OF A BIG SCORE

Badger Coach Lectures Wisconsin
Team and Tells Them to Run
Up Big Lead.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—Tomorrow the university of Wisconsin football eleven plays the strong Marquette university team of Milwaukee, and practically all the talk about the university fellows being looked for by a beating by the fast cream city eleven has passed by and it is expected that the badger university players will run up not less than 21 points against the aspirants from the lake shore. Coach Tom Barry began early in the week to lecture the university team, telling them to cut out the idea that they were to have hard work to save being defeated Saturday, and commanding them to roll up a big score so as to have a moral effect upon Minnesota and Chicago, the two remaining teams on the badger schedule. Last night in the after-supper social proceeding on the big gymnasium floor, Coaches Barry and McCarthy talked vigorously to the boys to the end that a big score against Marquette Saturday would help defeat Minnesota a week hence and Chicago three weeks from now. Tomorrow Chicago and Minnesota meet at Marshall Field, and the two Milwaukee teams are scheduled to come out ahead by a goodly margin. Minnesota has not been up to standard this season. The Wisconsin eleven which will line up against Marquette, and which will probably finish the season in the games with Minnesota and Chicago, is arranged as follows:

HAVE CONFIDENCE

For a year following a financial panic the economic history of 1908 promises to be unique. Ordinarily, a decreased demand for products of every kind, including even the necessities of life, follows a financial panic and lasts for two or even five years. Business confidence which inspires men to make contracts, borrow money and start on new enterprises, is shaken by the stringency of money to such an extent that comparatively little new wealth is created and business is at a low ebb for several years. Businessmen have been compelled to battle with these depressing influences this year, and in addition to face the additional uncertainty that prevails in a presidential year.

Despite these untoward influences facts show that for a year following a panic never have so few men been without work for such a short period; never have so few dividends been passed by railroad and industrial companies and never has there been such a speedy revival of business confidence. While the earnings for 1907 up to the time of the panic broke all records, the average earnings for the first part of 1908 have been equal, and in many cases greater, than those of 1907, which also had established records only to see them broken in 1907. In sharp contrast with such a condition is the story of the years following other panics in this country. In 1894 following the panic of 1893 business was at a low ebb and did not become normal until after the election of McKinley as president.

In 1874, following the panic of 1873, "an evident improvement in tone and activity in business circles" was reported, but that year was not a presidential year. In 1858, following the panic of '57, business conditions were improved only slightly.

IS IMPORTANT

Too much stress can not be laid upon the election of good men for the legislature. This is an office that is a most important one to any community in see properly filled. The Republicans have placed three men in nomination for the assembly from the three assembly districts whose worth and business ability is unquestioned. State Senator John M. Whitehead has been renominated and his value as a legislator is known. Voters on Tuesday next should not forget to vote for L. C. Whitte of Edgerton in the first assembly district, Grant U. Fisher in the second district and Simon Smith in the third. These three men, with John M. Whitehead in the senate, will make a strong quartette to represent Rock county at Madison during the coming winter.

TIME IS SHORT

But two more days of campaigning remain with a Sunday between. The whole country has been practically covered by the candidates or their supporters and the result of next Tuesday's election is most eagerly waited. Indications today are that William H. Taft is gaining ground each day. His reception throughout New York state has been most gratifying and it is expected his vote in the electoral college will be sufficient to land him in the White House by a handsome majority. The issues of the campaign have been carefully gone over by both of the presidential candidates and the voters now have their choice between assured prosperity and the vagaries of an aspiring politician—Taft or Bryan. Indications are that the four years more of prosperity cry will win and the country can settle down to renewed activity in business along all lines.

ELECTION RETURNS.

On election night the Gazette will furnish, for the benefit of the public, as complete election returns as it is possible to obtain. Aside from the regular Associated Press report the complete service of the Postal Telegraph company has been secured and the services of an experienced operator who will be stationed at an instrument in the Gazette office with direct wire to Chicago. The Associated Press service in the recognized premier news service of the world and the Gazette as a member of the association is given special privileges that other papers, not members of the association, can not secure. It will be a complete service in every particular and will be thrown onto a screen in front of the office as fast as obtained. The public is cordially invited to watch as displayed.

The question of good roads is one which every farmer is interested in and which will bring him out to the polls to vote for or against on election day.

Remember the grand rally at the Myers theatre Monday evening. Attorney General Gilbert is an excellent speaker and should have a large audience.

Chicago would not be Chicago if crime was not rampant, graft discussed freely and grafters running for office.

Dobs and his red special were in Janesville this morning making the third presidential candidate to visit the city during the present campaign.

Janesville will use the voting machine election day and the returns should be quickly obtained with but little delay.

When it comes to campaigning Taft and Bryan have proven themselves past masters of the art.

Business men the country over are planning for a resumption of business after Taft is elected.

Women Are to Share with Men.

Men and women are to have a common way of life—a common education—and they are to watch over the citizens in common, whether adding in the city or going out to war; they are to guard together and to hunt together or the dogs; and always and in all things women are to share with the men.—Plato.

for the little man and his sister

We are showing the new Natural Foot Form styles in all the novelties for this winter in both high and regular cut at remarkably low prices. For years we have made the child's foot and its needs a special study and we're one of the first to recognize and promote independent "Toe-Room" "models" apart from grown-up people's for the youngsters.

We are advocates of the "natural shape" and are displaying it now just as it is seen in New York today. We have the half and quarter sizes so that perfect fitting is absolutely assured. You know our reputation for qualities—none but the very best and the low prices:

Infants, all leathers, 50¢ to $1.25.
Child's, all leathers, 75¢ to $1.75.
Misses, all leathers, $1 to $2.50.
Girls', all leathers, $1.35 to $3.00.
Little Men's, all leathers, 85¢ to $2.00.

A HARD QUESTION

"Are you one of those Butcher Dentists that don't care whether they kill or cure?" said a prospective patient the other day.

"Well now," said I, "you don't expect a man to ever acknowledge any such characteristics as that."

"Well, I've seen just such," said she, "I don't want a dentist to go right ahead whether he hurts or not, or not."

"It will be careful," said Dr. Richards, "and leave you to judge as to whether I will meet your requirements or not."

"Well," said she, "You have done work for my husband two years ago, and his crowns are all right, and the work satisfactory. So I came to you myself."

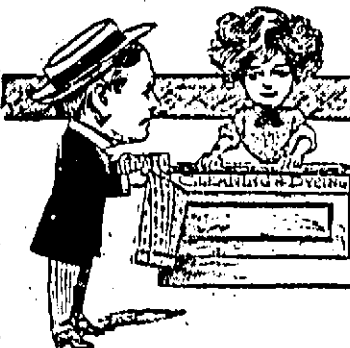

That's the secret of Dr. Richards' success.

His work is all right, and wears and makes permanent friends.

Try him yourself.

JANESVILLE, EDGERTON AND BELLOIT TO WIND UP CAMPAIGN.

THREE TOWNS CELEBRATE

Evanville, Afton and Footville Have Meetings With Much Enthusiasm.

Monday evening's rallies at Edgerton, Janesville and Beloit will end the campaign for Rock county. In Edgerton Wm. H. Dougherty and J. L. Fisher speak. Frank L. Gilbert in Janesville and James Minahan in Beloit in the evening in Beloit.

Plans for Monday evening's rally at the Myers theatre include the address by Frank L. Gilbert, attorney general of the state and probably one or two other speakers. Plans have not yet been completed but they will include a concert by the Imperial band. As it is the last meeting of a political nature to be held in Janesville it is expected a large crowd will be in attendance.

In Beloit, Monday night's meeting in Beloit includes a torchlight parade by the Tark-Sherman club and a speech at the Wilson Opera house by James Minahan. In Edgerton there will be no parade but the band will lead out and all the county candidates present.

Rally at Afton.
L. C. Whitford, republican candidate for the Assembly, A. M. Church, candidate for county treasurer, County Clerk Howard Lee, District Attorney J. L. Fisher and Attorney William H. Dougherty took part in an enthusiastic rally at Afton last evening. Brinkman's hall was gaily decorated with bunting and pictures of the national republican leaders, and a large crowd assembled there to hear the addresses. County School Supt. O. D. Antkowiak presided and stirring speeches were made by Mr. Dougherty and the District Attorney.

This evening T. D. Woolsey and J. L. Bour appear in the hall at Shoreport and on Saturday night they speak at Footville. Last evening Evanville held a rousing meeting, Prof. A. H. Sholtz being the orator of the evening.

BEGAN ARGUMENTS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Trial of Brown-Appleby Case Commenced This Afternoon—Submitted on Stipulation.

Later this afternoon the trial of the case of the State of Wisconsin on the trial of John Brown vs. George Appleby was commenced before Judge Grimm. As there was no dispute about the two elections by the council and by the board of police and fire commissioners or about the acts of Brown and Appleby since these elections the case was submitted on a stipulated set of facts and no testimony was taken.

Attorneys John Cunningham, Charles Pierce and J. P. Burpee appeared for Brown and W. C. Wheeler represented George Appleby. The case was opened by Charles Pierce who made the first argument. If the arguments are finished this afternoon, which is doubtful, the matter will very probably be taken under advisement for several days by Judge Grimm before rendering his decision.

Injunction Modified.
This noon Judge Grimm gave his opinion of the motion to vacate the injunction obtained by the Janesville Electric Co. against the Blodgett Milling Co. The judge holds that the city's right to establish boundary lines goes only so far that the city may regulate the use of the river as a highway and that it cannot, without making due compensation, take away the rights to fishing. This contention of the defendant is held to be untenable.

As the plaintiff's contention is held to be untenable and the defendant's injury is a mere and small the injunction was not vacated. The injunctive order was, however, so far modified that the defendant company may drive piles to protect their office building. In case, also, the action is not brought to trial during the present term of the court, the defendants may again make the motion to wholly vacate the injunction.

Apollo Club Notice.
All those persons who wish to become active members of the Apollo Club will please send in their application before noon Monday to J. S. TAYLOR, Chairman.

FRESH AIR FOR FIREMEN

Obtained Through Tube Extending From Hose to Fireman.

In endeavoring to extinguish a fire, the firemen are not bothered much with the actual flames, it is the smoke that gives them the most trouble. The flames are generally easily extinguished when they can get close enough to them, in most cases they can't—the smoke keeps them back. Where the smoke is thick and dense, the firemen can not get at it, and consequently are driven back from the flames. If the fireman who manipulates the hose can be constantly supplied with fresh air he can readily reach the fire, blow the smoke away and extinguish the fire, how to get the fresh air to him when the smoke interferes is a problem which seems to have been solved in a very simple manner by a Detroit fireman. His method, which he has patented, is shown in the illustration. In combination with the hose nozzle is a tube for supplying air. This tube extends from the nozzle to one side of the path of the stream and then converges gradually into the stream of water, the front end of the tube being entirely submerged. From the nozzle the other extremity of the air pipe ends in an opening which fits over the nose of the fireman. This supposition is that the air in the stream of water being free from the surrounding smoke forms a plentiful supply of fresh air for the fireman.

TO BROIL MEAT DRY

Platform of Rings Keeps Steak From Immersion in Grease.

Once more we have an invention designed for those who pay more than passing attention to their meals and accept only the best. This time it is a woman in California, who has come to the rescue of gourmands by supplying them with a utensil that will broil meat dry. Only those who have partaken of steaks dripping with grease can appreciate the value of this device.

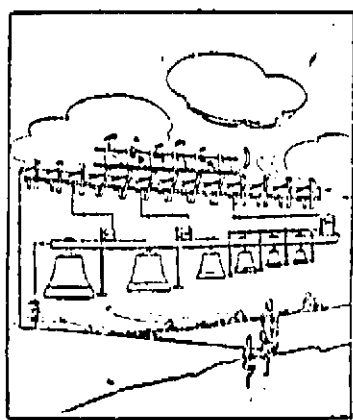

FOR BROILING TASTES.

The apparatus is a circular frame with a handle and inside the frame is a network of metal rings—steel or silver. The meat is placed on this mesh and they laid in the skillet close to the bottom. The heat comes up through the rings and the meat is done without being immersed in grease.

MUSICAL RAILWAY

Unique Contrivance to Amuse Patrons of Public Pleasure Parks.

Inventors evidently do not believe in the present financial stringency, as they still continue to devise various novel contrivances for enticing the people and drawing from the pockets of pleasure seekers attending public amusement parks. Many of these attractions are so unique in operation that no existing is required to draw the crowd. A good example is shown in the illustration—a "musical pleasure railway." Every park has its pleasure railways, adorned with artificial scenes, waterfalls, etc., but the music is generally furnished by a street organ or piano. In this railway the passengers furnish their own music. As the car glides along its tracks, it contacts with a series of levers, some of which form a contact with an electrical circuit to the corresponding electric bells. These contacts are made in such a manner that a tune is played as the car travels. The amusement this would afford can be readily imagined.

HAIR EASILY DYED

Comb Which Dyes Hair, at the Same Time Being Combed.

Numerous devices for dyeing women's hair have been designed recently, the majority consisting of complicated electrical apparatus or contrivances, which proved perfectly satisfactory in every way but entirely impractical in the ordinary home. Some simple arrangement, similar to the one shown in the accompanying illustration that serves the purpose much better. It consists of a combined comb and hair dryer, which in appearance closely resembles a pair of curling irons. The comb is metallic and has a hollow back, fitting into which is the heating iron. The latter is in two parts, forming a spring to closely hold it in place when slipped within the hollow back of the comb. In using this hair dryer, the heating iron is held over a gas jet or other flame until hot and inserted into the comb. The heat is transmitted to the teeth of the comb, drying the hair as the comb is drawn through it. With this device the hair can be very quickly and easily dried at the same time as the necessary operation of combing the hair.

CONFESSES TO BRIBERY

CONVICTED MAN TELLS ABOUT BUYING RUEF JUROR.

Says Attorney of Former Boss Promised Him $10,000 if He Would Keep Quiet.

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—Standing in the shadow of the penitentiary, with sentence about to be passed upon him and having seen his beautiful young wife just led from the courtroom hysterically crying "no, no," E. A. Blake, the contractor convicted of attempting to bribe John M. Kelly to qualify on the jury to try Abraham Ruef and vote for Ruef's acquittal, made a full confession in court Thursday.

He told how, after he was arrested, Frank J. Murphy, Ruef's associate counsel, came to him and promised him $10,000 if he would keep quiet, the amount, in notes signed by Ruef, being delivered to a third party, to be paid to Blake immediately after he was sentenced. Besides this amount, Blake declared that his wife was to receive $100 a month while he was in the penitentiary.

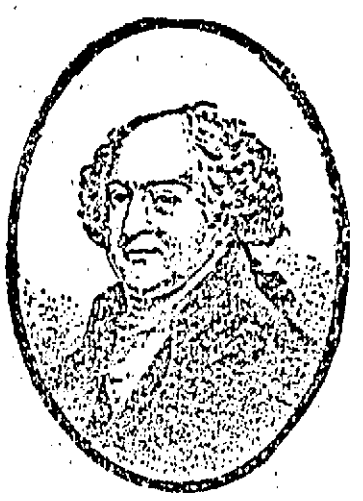

After being sworn and stating that he had not been promised immunity, Blake told of being offered $10,000 by Attorney A. S. Newburgh and F. J. Murphy, of Ruef's counsel, to influence J. M. Kelly, a prospective juror, to vote for the acquittal of Ruef. He at first offered Kelly $500, which was refused, but the offer of $1,000 was accepted, he said. It was then brought out that Newburgh had secured attorneys for Blake's defense. The story told by Blake created a sensation in court and the case was continued for two weeks.

FIREMAN LADDER FROM FLAME.

Thrilling Rescue Made at Tenement House Blaze in New York.

New York, Oct. 29.—Policemen and firemen made thrilling rescues in a tenement house fire in Brooklyn. From an adjoining house Policeman Zerwick reached the roof of the burning house and attempted to rescue a half dozen frightened people through a scuttle. There was no ladder, however, and the one he obtained from the next house was three feet short.

Lowering the short ladder through the scuttle, the policeman hung down by his arms and stood the ladder with his feet, allowing a woman and several children to climb up, stepping on his face as they mounted to the roof. Several firemen swung themselves across from an adjoining building and saved women and children on the fire escapes of the burning building.

JOHN ADAMS.

John Adams, destined to be the second president of the United States, was born in the quiet Massachusetts village of Braintree 173 years ago today. His boyhood days differed little from that of other Massachusetts lads, although he showed marked ability in his studies at Harvard, from which he was graduated in 1755. After this he began the study of law. Three years later he was admitted to the bar and thereafter devoted himself to public life. His training was quite the opposite of that of his predecessor, George Washington, for his was a legal training, whereas Washington's had been military. Few presidents have stepped into the chafe with a more thoroughly equipped training than John Adams. Soon after he entered upon legal practice, he was appointed advocate general representative in the congress of the province and later was elected to the colonial congress.

John Adams was a member of the committee which formulated the Declaration of Independence. In 1776 he was appointed chief justice, but declined the honor. During the war his services were frequently needed on diplomatic errands, and he accompanied much for the United States in this way. It was John Adams who was selected to go to England to treat for peace in 1779 and later he was appointed United States minister to England. So successful was he that upon his return he received the thanks of congress and was elected vice president. This training had fitted him thoroughly for the office which he was of Washington he was chosen to take about to fill and upon the retirement up to rebus of government. He enjoyed his mental faculties to the end of his long life, which closed July 4, 1826.

EVER SEEKING SHADOW LETTER.

Odd Hobby of a Man Who Scans the Advertised Mail List.

One man with an odd hobby isn't a person who gets much mail and what he has or expects to have he can keep in mind very easily. Probably he never had a letter which went astray.

Yet every time he sees in the newspapers the list of advertised mail sent out from time to time by the general post-office in New York he turns at once to the initial letter under which his name comes and runs carefully through the list. He has never yet found any letter that might be supposed to be for him and furthermore hasn't found any that might be for any of his relatives.

He takes an odd pleasure in doing it, however, sometimes with that earnestness which impels a man to grub through a packet of old letters in hopes that he may come upon some rare variety of stamp. Ideally, if ever he found his name in the list it probably would kill his enjoyment of the hunt forever thereafter.—New York Sun.

SHOULD HAVE KNOWN BETTER.

Fate of Unhappy Man Who Aroused Ire of Young Mother.

The baby in arms was screaming lustily and the man in the gray suit could not hide his irritability.

"What on earth, madam," he spluttered, "do you mean by bringing such a howling brat into a public vehicle?"

"It isn't a brat," retorted the mother, with natural indignation. "And, if I'm any judge, it doesn't howl half as much as you did at its age, going by the looks of you."

"The man in gray wriggled uneasily under the general scrutiny.

"Baby, see the ugly man?" pursued the infuriated female, pointing at him. "See the monkey-powkey, gorilla man, what might take a first prize at a beauty show for the horriest face?"

Baby, hush, or the ugly monkey man will—"

But the sentence remained unfinished, for the man in the gray suit had bolted.

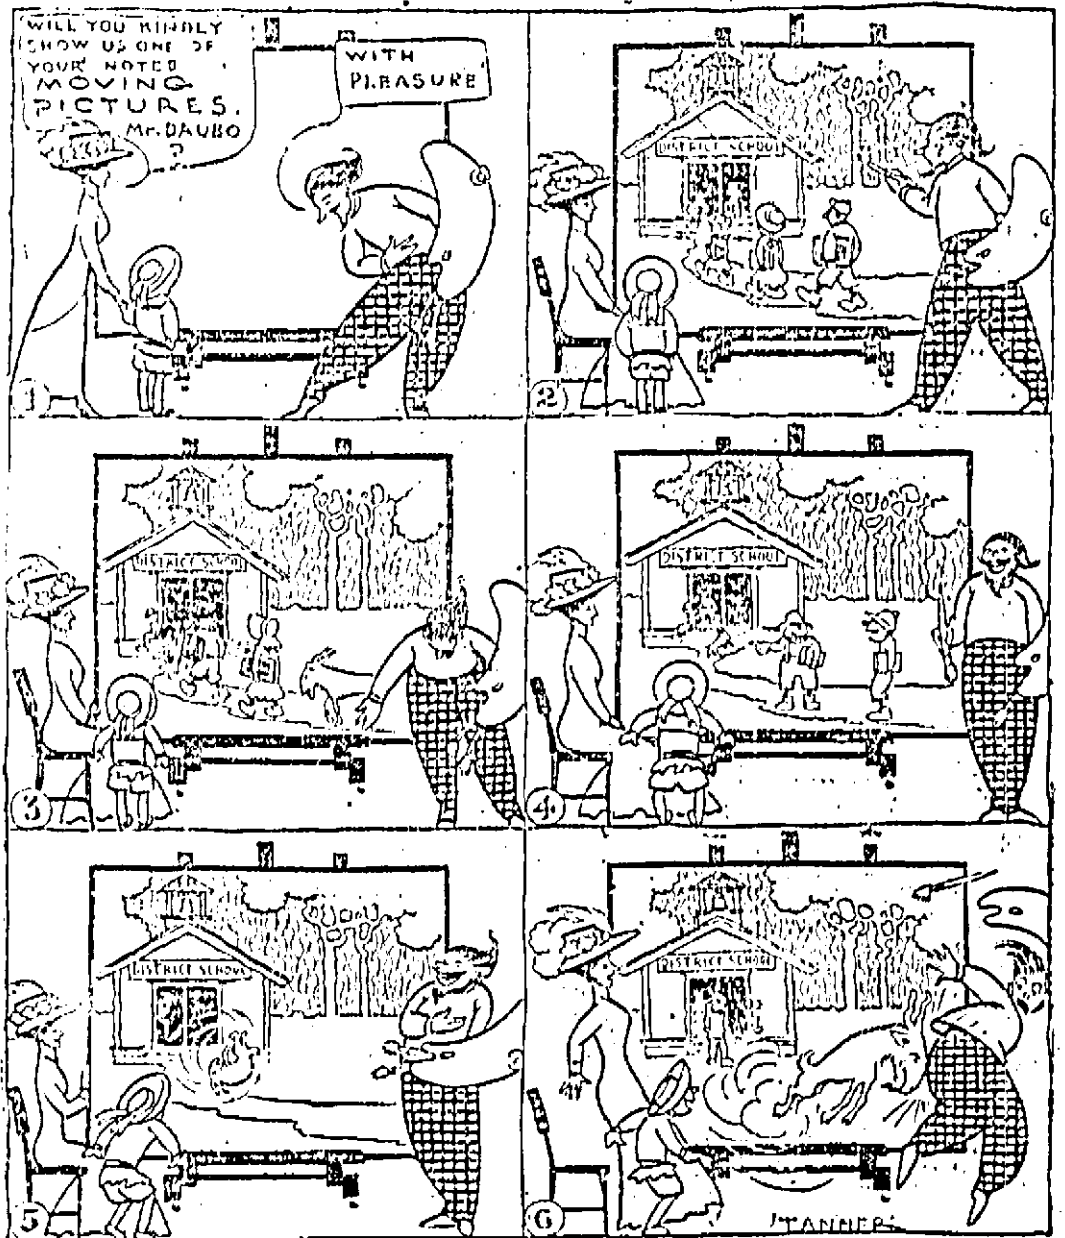

Doing His Best.

"I wish you would pay a little attention, sir!" exclaimed a stage manager to a careless actor. "Well, sir, so I am paying as little as I can!" was the calm reply.

Method of Italian Cafes Puts Premium on Deep Drinking.

Drink, as usual, was the subject of debate.

"I went into a cafe in Bologna last month," said a Chicagoan. "Buongiorno," I said, in my best Italian. "Vino."

"The pretty waitress brought me a flask of vino. Then she asked if I would drink by the glass or hour. I opened my eyes wide. I shook my head in bewilderment. Laughing, she explained:

"Competition is so great in the cafes of Bologna that we have to adopt all sorts of novelties to attract trade. The latest is drinking by the hour. In nearly all our cafes now you can drink by the glass or hour, as pleases you."

"Our vin ordinario can be drunk at ten cents an hour. There is profit in that, no matter how great the drinker's capacity may be. Vin ordinario, you know, costs nothing."

"For beer we charge 50 cents an hour. We make little on beer. Brandy is one dollar an hour."

"I laughed.

"In what condition," I asked, "do these contract drinkers walk home?"

"The girl laughed, too.

"They don't walk," she said. "They are carried."

SYRACUSE HEARS BRYAN AND TAFT

CANDIDATES BOTH WELCOMED WITH ENTHUSIASM.

FORMER STARTS FOR WEST

Addresses Big Meeting in Sherman's Home—Loudenslager Predicts Completion of Next House of Representatives.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30.—To this city last Thursday night, the distinction of entertaining the two men most prominent in public interest, Taft and William J. Bryan, expounded respectively Republican and Democratic doctrines.

Mr. Taft spoke at two meetings and Mr. Bryan at four. At each occasion the warning "standing room only" was displayed long before the hour of the meeting, and before the "big men" arrived standing room was at a premium, and hundreds were turned away. Also, in each instance, the presidential candidates were received with flattering demonstrations and their speeches were frequently interrupted by spontaneous applause.

Welcome Fairly Divided.

The Taft and Bryan speeches arrived at the station at almost the same moment, shortly after six o'clock, and to the credit of the city's hospitality he it said that the expressions of welcome were pretty evenly divided. Both candidates were met by local leaders and entertained at dinner. Mr. Bryan left his car upon arrival and shook hands with many on the platform. Mr. Taft improved the opportunity to rest for a little while after his car had come to a stand still. Mr. Taft spoke at the Albany convention hall, and at Turn hall. Previous to the meeting there was a Republican parade, the line including the Syracuse Republican Escort, the Old Boys' Lincoln and Fremont club, the Conklin Unconditional Marching club of Utica, and the Taft and Sherman Marching club of Auburn.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied by Judge Alton B. Parker and J. J. Dunne. His first address was at the city hall, this being followed by speeches at the Wieting opera house, Empire hall and before the Modern Woodmen of America, who entertained Mr. Bryan just before his departure for the west late at night. While here both of the distinguished guests were initiated into the Mithras Krewes of Kanawha.

Dryan at Sherman's Home.
Utica, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Paying a visit to Utica, the home of James R. Sherman, Republican vice-presidential nominee, William J. Bryan got a great demonstration. "It was one of the best meetings of the campaign," said he, upon returning to his car. The opera house where he spoke was inadequate to accommodate the crowd which assembled to hear him and he made an overflow talk to double the number outside.

Estimate of Next Congress.
New York, Oct. 30.—Representative Henry C. Loudenslager, New Jersey, secretary of the national republican congressional committee, Thursday gave out his estimates of the complexion of the national house of representatives in the Sixty-first congress.

"From the several thousand letters received," said Mr. Loudenslager, "and from personal interviews with politicians and other observers from all sections of the country, I am convinced that a conservative estimate of the political complexion of the next house is that it will show 227 Republicans and 164 Democrats."

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry!
If You Want The Bonus Vote

"10,000 Extra Votes" Issued With Every $30.00 Turned In By A Candidate By Monday Night At 10 P. M. Anything Mailed In That Night and Delivered To This Office Tuesday A. M. Will Be Counted In This Offer. This Gives Out Of Town Candidates An Equal Chance With The First District Contestants.

Mrs. Robert Hockett Is Once More The Leader In The First, With Mrs. Emma Malbon A Very Close Second. M. K. Hamblett Again Registers His Daily Gain. The Rural District Is Showing The Way In Both Lists. Who Will Win The Trip?

The New Bonus Offer

A certificate for 10,000 votes will be given with every $30.00 worth of business turned into the office by next Monday night at 10 P. M. This includes both "old" and "new" subscribers, and the certificate is given in addition to the regular votes issued on each subscription. All business previously turned in, and not checked off in one of the "club" offers will be included in this proposition. Get at least one of the certificates.

Every contestant in this race has awakened to the fact that this contest is not a trivial affair and that their first estimate of the number of votes it would take to win is about "steep" thousand short of the real figures. Some rather reluctantly admit that they were a hundred thousand or so shy in their estimate.

Well, what of it? If your estimate was too low it is up to you to rise to the occasion and meet the new situation. Boyish your own figures. Make a new estimate of the number of votes you will need to win the particular prize you have decided will about suit you, and then start out to get them. And don't stop until you do it.

It is going to take a big vote to win. You are sure of that and the way to do it is to get results every day. If you don't you will find that when the general rule is called you won't be there.

A good many of the contestants have been thinking deeply and have sized up the situation thoroughly, realizing that this contest is going to be the biggest thing of the kind that this city has ever heard of. The same ones realize that the prizes are not awarded until November 7th and that returns to the effect that Mr. Sturges has a clinch on the trip abroad and Miss So and So has a mortgage on one of the beautiful diamond rings are most decidedly premature. The contest editor has been through a good many of these battles and has seen that smile of certainty fade from too many faces not to make an effort to warn candidates against the sin of over-confidence. Don't think that because you had a windfall last week and handed a few of those bonus votes for 10,000 that you can rest on your oars and laugh at the other fellow. You will get badly fooled if you do that. Prizes such as the Gazette is offering do not go begging and many shrewd people have entered the race. Their reserves have not yet been drawn upon and you can't tell what they can do.

On the other hand don't believe all the rumors you hear about the millions of votes that some candidates have up their sleeves. Some candidates consider it good business to try to scare out the field ones by mysteriously hinting at the tremendous reserve that they have in their breast pockets while others who may be ten times as dangerous go around telling that they don't expect to win a thing but just intend to get some excitement out of the contest. Suit yourself in what you say, but don't believe all you hear.

Chapter 12

DIFFERENCES of opinion between himself and Neergard concerning the ethics of good taste involved in forcing the Slowthwaite club matter.

Gerald's decreasing attention to business and increasing intimacy with the Frau-Ruthven couple began to make Selwyn very uncomfortable. The boy's close relations with Neergard worried him most of all and, though Neergard finally agreed to drop the Slowthwaite matter as a fixed policy in which Selwyn had been expected to participate at some indefinite date, the arrangement seemed only to cement the man's confidential companionship with Gerald.

This added to Selwyn's restlessness, and one day in early spring he had a long conference with Gerald—a most unsatisfactory one. Gerald for the first time remained silent, and when Selwyn, presuming on the cordial understanding between them, pressed him a little the boy turned sullen, and Selwyn let the matter drop very quickly.

But neither tact nor caution seemed to serve now. Gerald, more and more engrossed in occult social affairs of which he made no mention to Selwyn, was still amiable and friendly, even at times cordial and lovable, but he was no longer frank or even communicative, and Selwyn, fearing to arouse him again to sullenness or perhaps even to suspicious defiance, forbore to press him beyond the most tentative advances toward the regaining of his confidence.

Gerald and Neergard left the office together frequently now. They often lunched uptown. Whether they were in each other's company evenings Selwyn did not know, for Gerald no longer volunteered information as to his whereabouts or doings. And all this hurt Selwyn and alarmed him, too, for he was slowly coming to the conclusion that he did not like Neergard, that he would never sign articles of partnership with him and that even his formal association with the company was too close a relation for his own peace of mind. He did not like to leave the boy alone for his sister's sake as well as for his own.

Matters drifted that way through early spring. He actually grew to dislike both Neergard and the business of Neergard & Co., for no particular reason perhaps, but in general, though he did not yet care to ask himself to be more precise in his unvoiced criticisms. But Neergard broke his word to him.

And one morning before he left his rooms at Mrs. Groves's lodgings to go downtown Percy Draymore called him up on the telephone, and, as that overfed young man's usual rising hour was notoriously never more than 8 o'clock, it surprised Selwyn to be asked to remain in his room for a little while.

Draymore and one or two friends could call on him personally concerning a matter of importance.

FOR PIMPLES, TOO

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eruptive Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of poslam, the new discovery for the cure of eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories. Since this change in the method of distribution, poslam has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years. All leading druggists, including Holmströms, The Smith Drug Co., and the People's Drug Co. in Jameville are now carrying the special poslam also recently adopted, also the $2 jar.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, poslam stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application. Experimental samples of poslam are sent to anyone by mail free of charge, by the Emergency Laboratories, 22 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.

First there was Percy Draymore, overgrown for a gentleman, fat, good humored and fashionable—one of the famous Draymore family noted solely for their money and their tight grip on it; then came Sanxon Orrell, the famous banker and promoter, small, urbane, dark, with that rich, almost oriental, coloring which he may have inherited from his Cornish ancestors, who found it necessary to dehumanize their names when Rome offered them the choice, with immediate eternity as alternative.

Then came a fox faced young man, Phoenix Mottly, elegant arbiter of all pertaining to polo and the hunt—all legged, hatched faced and more presentable in the saddle than out of it. He was followed by Bradley Harmon, with his washed out coloring of a consumptive Swede and his corn colored beard, and, looming in the rear like an amiable bromeliad, George Fane, whose swaying neck carried his head as a camel carries his, nodding as he walks.

"We heard last night," said Draymore, "how that fellow—how Neergard had been tampering with our farmers—what underhand tricks he has been playing us, and I frankly admit to you that we're a worried lot of near sports. That's what this dismal mattress signifies, and we've come to ask you what it all really means."

"Why did you not call on Mr. Neergard?" asked Selwyn coolly. Yet he was taken completely by surprise, for he did not know that Neergard had gone ahead and secured options on his own responsibility, which practically amounted to a violation of the truce between them. "I know nothing about it," he said. "I did not know that Mr. Neergard had acquired control of the property. I don't know what he means to do with it. And, gentlemen, may I ask why you feel at liberty to come to me instead of going to Mr. Neergard?"

"A desire to deal with one of our own kind, I suppose," returned Draymore bluntly. "And, for that matter," he said, turning to the others, "we might have known that Captain Selwyn could have had no hand in and no knowledge of such an underbred and dirty—"

Harmon plucked him by the sleeve, but Draymore shook him off, his little piggy eyes sparkling.

"What do I care?" he sneered, losing his temper. "We're in the clutches of a vulgar, skulking Dutchman, and he'll wring us dry whether or not we curse him out. Didn't I tell you that Philip Selwyn had nothing to do with it? If he had, and I was wrong, our journey here might as well have been made to Neergard's office, for any man who will do such a filthy thing—"

"One moment, Draymore," cut in Selwyn, and his voice rang unpleasantly. "If you are simply complaining because you have been outwitted, go ahead, but if you think there has been any really dirty business in this matter go to Mr. Neergard. Otherwise, being his associate, I shall not only decline to listen, but also ask you to leave my apartments."

"Captain Selwyn is perfectly right," observed Orrell coolly. "Do you think, Draymore, that it is very good taste in you to come into a man's place and begin slanging and cursing a member of his firm for crooked work?"

"Fishes!" added Mottly. "It's not crooked; it's only contemptible." And to Selwyn, who had been restlessly facing first one, then another: "We came—it was the idea of several among us—to put the matter up to you, which was rather foolish, because you couldn't have engineered the thing and remained what we know you to be, Sir."

"Wait!" said Selwyn brusquely. "I do not admit for one moment that there is anything dishonorable in this deal, nor do I accept your right to question it from that standpoint, because I personally have not chosen to engage in matters of this—description, is no reason for condemning the deal or its method."

"Every reason!" said Orrell, laughing cordially. "Every reason, Captain Selwyn. Think you; we know now exactly where we stand. It was very good of you to let us come, and I'm sorry some of us had the bad taste to show any temper."

"If I mean me," added Draymore, offering his hand; "goodly, Captain Selwyn. I dare say we are up against it hard."

"Because we've got to buy in that property or close up the Slowthwaite," added Mottly, coming over to make his adieu. "By the way, Selwyn, you ought to be one of us in the Slowthwaite."

"Thank you, but isn't this rather an awkward time to suggest it?" said Selwyn good humoredly.

Fane burst into a sonorous laugh and wagged his neck, saying: "Not at all! Not at all! Your reward for having the decency to stay out of the deal is an invitation from us to come in and be squeezed into a jelly by Mr. Neergard. How'd that?"

And so, one by one, with formal or informal but evidently friendly leave-taking, they went away. And Selwyn followed them presently, walking until he took the subway at Forty-second street for his office.

He went into his own office, pocketed his mail and still wearing hat and gloves came out again just as Gerald was leaving Neergard's office.

He walked leisurely into Neergard's office and seated himself.

"So you have committed the firm to the Slowthwaite deal?" he inquired coolly.

Neergard looked up, and, then, post

It meant, instead of selfish or snobbish indifference to his own social ambitions, an enemy to block his entrance into what he desired—the society of those made notorious in the columns of the daily press.

He was fairly on the outer boundary now, though still very far outside. But a needy gentleman inside was already compromised and practically pledged to support him, for his meeting with Jack Ruthven through Gerald had proved of greatest importance. He had lost gracefully to Ruthven and in doing it had taken that gentleman's measure. And, though Ruthven himself was a member of the Slowthwaite, Neergard had made no error in taking him secretly into the deal where to gather they were now in a position to exploit the club, from which Ruthven of course would resign in time to escape any assessment himself.

Neergard's progress had now reached this stage. His programme was simple—to wallow among the wealthy until satiated, then to marry into that agreeable community and found the house of Neergard. Poisonous Gases in Oil Field Kill Many Mexicans.

Mexico City, Oct. 26.—Reports from Tampico show that over 50 lives have been lost in the oil fields as a result of the poisonous gases emitted from the big hole in the ground caused by the recent fire. Following the death of a score of men a few days ago, another party went into the field and it is said 30 men perished, among the dead being several soldiers sent to the scene by the Mexican government. The government has called upon the most eminent scientists in Mexico to go to the scene and investigate the situation.
